The Purpose of Suffering

The church celebrates September 14 as the feast of the Triumph of the Cross. The very phrase 'triumph of the cross' seems ridiculous! Steven Hemler in 'What is the purpose of suffering?' says, "no one wants or enjoys suffering and hardship even though they are an inevitable part of our temporal life on earth." He goes on to add "I know this may sound funny, but difficulties and hardships can be blessings in disguise. They can be a catalyst for achieving new heights in our personal and spiritual lives... In times of difficulty and hardship, we naturally turn to God and seek His help. If everything were always wonderful, do you think we would need God or seek Him? C. S. Lewis once noted, "God whispers to us in our pleasures, speaks to us in our conscience, but shouts in our pains: It is His megaphone to ruse a deaf world."

God wants us to embrace the truth that our problems, difficulties, and disappointments are storms on the sea of life that are not meant to sink us, but to sanctify us. Each 'storm' is an opportunity to grow closer to God. If everything were always perfect, we would become lazy, hedonistic, and selfish. It is through life's suffering and hardships that we are given the opportunity to develop our trust in God and experience His love for us."

The Cross has been a source of attraction and strength and a challenge for the first disciples of Jesus and for all Christians down the centuries. In our own lives today, the Cross primarily means accepting God's love, which entails dying to our selfishness and pride. Suffering by itself does not necessarily mean the cross. We may suffer deeply, cursing God, people and our lot. Only when we accept suffering in a spirit of deep faith, hope and love, can we say that we are participating in the mystery of the Cross. The mystery of the Cross is really an invitation to love! It is an invitation to true discipleship, "For, the message of the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved, it is the power of God." (1Cor. 1:18-25)

To our Teachers

The month of September has another important date, that is, the fifth, which is celebrated as Teacher's Day in our country. The day is dedicated to all teachers who play a prominent role in the life of their students. Teachers act as guides for life, show the path towards success and enrich the personality of their students by imparting ethical and academic knowledge. To our Teachers who serve with love and devotion I extend sincere wishes and say, HAPPY TEACHERS DAY.

'Big City Blues'

On January 21, 2014 the Agartala Municipal Council turned into a Corporation. On the same day, the 42nd Statehood day of Tripura, 10 Nagar Panchayats including Dharmanagar, Kailasahar, Ambassa, Khawai, Teliamura, Mohanpur, Bishalgarh, Melaghar, Udaipur and Belonia in the sub-divisional towns were also promoted as Municipal Councils. These urban local bodies have been upgraded and extended, official sources say, in order to give better services to the people of the State. Some even claim that Agartala, with its nearly half million population, is the biggest city in Northeast, after Guwahati!

That may be debatable but it's true Tripura has been through huge changes in the past decades. Distances have shrunk and more townships have developed. One now finds the narrow roads, sluggish traffic and ramshackle structures of old replaced by broader roads, faster cars, and taller buildings. In every nook and corner of the towns and townships signs of growth and improved infrastructure are visible.

Unfortunately, these, however, have also widened the gap between the haves and the have-nots. Economic disparity, especially among the indigenous people of the state, is on the rise. A greater number of people have entered the elite club alright and many have moved up a notch or two on the social and economic matrix. This gives one the impression that the development process they're part of is without any lacuna whatsoever.

This disturbing trend is most pronouncedly seen among the youth. Among them the glaring disparity is not confined merely to the economic sphere but in all areas of life. The problem with such 'lop-sided' development is that the rich and the powerful get richer and more powerful while the poor get left out of the rat race.

The Gospels are filled with examples of Jesus' preferential treatment of the weak, the helpless, and the vulnerable. As individuals and communities that have the mandate to continue the mission of Jesus, we would do well to examine our attitude to such categories of people. Do we have some strategies in place to 'include' the normally excluded? Or do we, carried away by its many bells and whistles, bide our time naively singing the development song?

Tripura Salesian Family rallies around 'Youth' at Bicentenary Finale

Curtains came down on the yearlong celebrations of Don Bosco's birth bicentenary with a two-day Youth Meet at Agartala from 15-16 August 2015. The program commenced with the screening of a 10-minute movie on the life and works of Don Bosco. Shri Daniel Jamatia Member of the Legislative Assembly, and a past pupil himself, who was the Chief Guest at the inaugural function called Don Bosco an unparalleled Educator of Youth and congratulated the Salesian Family on the occasion. He also inaugurated the Don Bosco Exhibition.

In typical Salesian fashion, the Youth occupied the centre stage throughout the event. The animation sessions taken by Sr. Celine D'Cunha, Mr. TarunKanti Debbarma and Fr. Paul Panachickal had the young people reflecting on the power they wielded and the challenges they faced in the present day world. In the Eucharistic celebration, Fr. Hormis John, the Vicar General of the Diocese and the main celebrant, spoke of Holy Mother Mary assumed into heaven, as a model par excellence for youth.

The celebrations on 16th August began in front of the statue of Don Bosco at the tri-junction outside the campus paying homage to the saint. The high point of the day was the solemn Bicentenary Holy Eucharist presided over by Most Rev Lumen Monteiro CSC, and joined by other priest concelebrants. The congregation numbering over 1,500 consisted mostly of young people. For the Agartala unit of Salesian Cooperators, the day had an added significance. Eight new members made the promise during the solemn Eucharistic celebration.

After the Holy Eucharist, Bishop Monteiro released a 120-page Bicentenary Souvenir painstakingly prepared by a team headed by Sr. Celine D'Cunha FMA. The program also offered the young an opportunity to showcase their talents. In the cultural program held on both the days, groups of youth from various institutions danced with gay abandon. The near perfect feel that most dances had was proof that much effort and earnestness had gone into their preparation. Unprecedented camaraderie and collaboration among all component groups of the Salesian Family characterized the run up to the bicentenary celebrations.

Fr. Sunny, the Convener thanked everyone and said he hoped the conclusion of the celebrations was 'just the beginning of greater commitment and dedication to the cause of youth'. J. Pulinathanath, sdb
